

Abstract

The present invention relates to a controlled release system, in particular to a controlled release system containing temozolomide.